Alderman Henning stated the committee on equalization of wages had not been able to get together.

J. Henry Long appeared as attorney of Mrs. George E. Thomas and gave the council notice that damage suits would be filed for injuries sustained by his client in falling over obstruction near Juniper and 8th streets. The two suits aggregate $12,500.

PRINCE VON BUELOW.

Remarkable Attack Made on the Former Chancellor.

ATTACK MADE ON VON BUELOW

Interview With Emperor William Said to Have Been Fake.

London, May 3.—A remarkable attack on Prince von Buelow, the former imperial chancellor, in connection with the memorable interview with Emperor William published in October, 1908, by the London Telegraph, is contained in a lengthy volume which is about to be issued by the ex-governmental chancellor, Rudolf Martin.

The chancellor is accused of treason toward the emperor. The author of the book asserts that the interview never occurred; that table talk, the gist of which the emperor communicated to Prince von Buelow, was put into the form of an interview by the German foreign office, reaching the Telegraph from the hands of the journalist, Harold Spender.

Herr Martin gives the names of prominent personages to support his assertions, one of the chief of which is the former chancellor of the German embassy in London, Baron von Eckhardtstein. Both he and Herr Martin left the government side.

MAYOR NOT BLAMED FOR FATAL ACCIDENT

Runs Over a Boy With His Electric Coupe.

Racine, Wis., May 3.—Mayor A. J. Horlick, driving his automobile home from his factory, ran down and instantly killed Harry Thompson, aged seven years, son of Cliff Thompson, a workman in the Horlick milk factory.

The mayor is prostrated by the accident, though he is not held responsible, the accident being due to the storm which was raging at the time.

Mayor Horlick left his factory in an electric coupe, which he drove himself. He was riding before the wind in a storm which was blowing for a few minutes at that time, and when nearly to the business part of town struck the Thompson boy. The boy was delivering papers and ran out unexpectedly from a store, and as he was carrying an umbrella, did not see the machine, which was running noiselessly.

He started to run across the street and dashed into the side of the car, was thrown to the pavement and one wheel went over his head, crushing the skull.

The mayor felt the jar as the boy struck, but he had not seen the child come out of the store. The mayor stopped his machine upon hearing the screams of people nearby, but it was not until he had stepped to the pavement after stopping his car that he realized that he had struck a human being. He nearly fainted and was unable to drive his machine home. He is one of the wealthiest men in the city.

done under the direction of the street committee.

Alderman Henning presented a complaint regarding water drains and filled culverts near the Mill school. This complaint was referred to the street committee to report at the next meeting.

Mayor Ousdahl submitted a letter received by him to the council. This communication agitated the question of a sane Fourth of July.

In regard to the curbing near the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church the committee reported the curbing on Oak and Tenth streets to be set as near the corner as can be located.

Alderman Cardle's resolutions regulating the speed of automobiles and the momentous chicken question were referred to the ordinance committee.

The building inspector was asked to inspect the East Brainerd bridge and to report the cost of repairing the same.

J. W. Miller, the postoffice contractor, asked permission to pile material in the street which was granted.

On motion the council adjourned to take up the question of election of officers Tuesday evening, May 3rd.

FLOATS ABOVE ROYAL PALACE

American Flag Waves Over One in Copenhagen.

IN HONOR OF ROOSEVELT

Distinguished Traveler the Guest of Crown Prince Christian, Who Thanks the American for Visiting the Danish Court—Colonel's Baggage Delayed and He Is Forced to Dine in Morning Dress.

Copenhagen, May 3.—The Stars and Stripes floated above the royal palaces for the first time in the history of Denmark and ex-President Roosevelt, in the absence of King Frederick, is the guest of Crown Prince Christian, one of the palaces being placed at the disposal of Mr. Roosevelt and his family.

The prince, presiding at a dinner as the king's representative, thanked Mr. Roosevelt for coming to their court and proposed his health, which was heartily responded to by those around the table, who included the leading personages in the kingdom, in court, parliamentary and scholarly life.

The colonel, in reply, said that he had received a cordial message from the king and thanked the prince for his hospitality. He then proposed a toast to the king and the royal family of Denmark.

Colonel Roosevelt's baggage unfortunately had been delayed and he was obliged to dine in morning dress. King Edward had precisely the same experience two years ago, his baggage having been sent by a different route.

Missing Baggage Found.

At the reception given by Maurice P. Egan, the American minister, at the legation, the former president met the diplomatic representatives, the cabinet ministers and many persons prominent in the various departments of public activity. By this time the missing baggage had been found and Mr. Roosevelt was thus able to array himself in the conventional dress clothes.

The crown prince met the party on their arrival from The Netherlands by way of Kiel. He drove with Mr. Roosevelt to the palace and showed him to his apartments. The prince then went to his own residence, which is located directly across the avenue. Half an hour later the colonel visited the prince and had tea, proceeding from there to pay a visit to Prince Waldemar and Prince Hans, the latter being the uncle of the queen of England.

The Danish-American society of Chicago, which is carrying on extensive improvement work for the betterment of health in the district of Jutland, intends to ask Mr. Roosevelt to allow a park to be named after him.

TO TEST THE PRIMARY LAW

State Supreme Court to Pass on the Statute.

Bismarck, N. D., May 3.—The petitions of Marshall and Gronna to have their names placed on the primary election ballots as candidates for the nomination as senator on the Republican ticket have been filed.

The petition of Thomas F. Marshall stated that he is a candidate for the long term, or from March 4, 1911, to March 3, 1917, and the petition of Edward Engerud simply mentioned the senatorship without any mention as to the length of the term.

It had been generally understood that Secretary of State Blaisdell would file the petition of Mr. Engerud and refuse to file that of Mr. Marshall and then mandamus proceedings would be brought to the supreme court to force the name of Marshall onto the ticket and in this way a test case would be made of the matter. But at the last moment it was learned that Mr. Blaisdell, who was out of the city, had left instructions for his deputy to file all petitions received.

This changed the programme and when the petitions were presented and accepted Judge Corliss, attorney for Marshall, gave notice that he would ask the supreme court for an injunction to prevent the name of Engerud going on the ballot without a designation as to the term he was to run for, the long or the short.

The injunction was applied for and the court set next week Wednesday as the date for hearing arguments as to why the injunction should not be issued.

To Fight Forest Fires.

Washington, May 3.—Secretary Wilson has signed a memorandum of agreement with the Great Northern Railway company, and also one with the Northern Pacific Railway company, which provides for co-operation of the forest service and the railroads to prevent damage to the national forests from fires along all lines operated by these railroads.

Losses Valuable Jewels.

London, May 3.—A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Vienna says it is reported that Countess Szechenyi, formerly Miss Gladys Vanderbilt of New York, has lost a casket of jewels valued at $40,000.

EDWARD P. WESTON.

Veteran Pedestrian Finishes Trip Across the Continent.

FEAT WITHOUT A PARALLEL

Weston's Wonderful Record in Walk Across the Continent.

New York, May 3.—Edward Payson Weston brought to a triumphant end his ocean to ocean walk. Cheered by thousands of enthusiastic New Yorkers he ascended the steps of the city hall, completing the transcontinental journey of 3,483 miles in seventy-seven walking days, a feat without parallel in the annals of pedestrianism.

The grizzled athlete was welcomed to his home city by Mayor Gaynor, who presented him with a purse of $400 hurriedly raised by a handful of his admirers in the last hours of his spectacular walk. This and the admiration and applause of the thousands who have followed his tramp since the day of its inception at Los Angeles on Feb. 1 last is all the reward that comes to the intrepid septuagenarian after his two months and more of trudging through heat and cold across the continent.

In the last stages of his walk into New York he was the object of an ovation such as has rarely been accorded to any individual short of a victorious admiral or the colonel of a rough riders' regiment. His line of march from Seventy-second street was down Broadway, which from curb to curb was black with moving thousands intent upon keeping sight of the white haired little man ambling along in his peculiar jerky gait.

STATE LAWS HELD TO BE CONSTITUTIONAL

Federal Supreme Court Decides Against Trusts.

Washington, May 3.—The hands of the states in their fight against "trusts" were upheld by the supreme court of the United States with a 5-4 majority.

The Association of Retail Lumber Dealers in Mississippi and Louisiana was disbanded by affirmative of the decree of the supreme court of Mississippi; the Standard Oil company of Kentucky was ousted from Tennessee by the approval of the decree of the supreme court of Tennessee. Both the state courts had held these combinations violated the anti-trust act of the respective states.

Justice Lurion announced the opinion of the court in the Mississippi case. It was the first utterance from the supreme court bench on the "trust" question. He said the members of the association had obligated themselves not to deal with any manufacturer or wholesaler in lumber who sold to consumers in the localities in which they conducted a business sufficiently large to meet the demands of the public.

He accepted the findings of the state courts and considered only whether the statute was in conflict with the Fourteenth amendment by abridging the freedom of contract.

Found Poison in Stomach.

Kansas City, May 3.—Dr. Walter S. Haines, the Chicago toxicologist, told at the Hyde murder trial the alleged results of his search for poisons. In part of the stomach of Colonel Thomas H. Swope, testified Dr. Haines, he found a two-hundredths of a grain of strychnine. The physician said a small trace of the same drug was located in the brain.

Taft Lauds Knox.

Pittsburg, May 3.—President Taft ended his two days' stay in Pittsburg with a speech at the Grant day dinner of the American club in which he dealt almost wholly with the foreign affairs of the nation. The president paid a striking tribute to the secretary of state, Mr. Knox, who was present.

REACHES CRISIS IN THE SENATE

CONFESSION NOT BELIEVED

Note Acknowledging Murder Thought by Officers to Be Ruse.

Towner, N. D., May 3.—Little credence is given in this county to the supposed confession of "John Hosen" to the murder of Alfred Peterson seven years ago. Carl Olson is serving a life sentence for the crime, being convicted in 1905, and the evidence against him was so strong and conclusive that the officials are slow to believe he is not guilty.

Olson attempted recently to secure a pardon, but was unsuccessful.

The general belief prevails in this county that the note, found in a coat on the Missouri river bridge of the Northern Pacific at Bismarck, was left by friends of Olson, who are attempting to get him out of state's prison.

New Trial Denied.

Bismarck, N. D., May 3.—Peter Idvedson, despite the fact that he appealed to the supreme court, will have to serve time in the county jail for violating the prohibition law in Minot. A decision has been handed down by that court denying his motion for a new trial. Idvedson, according to the court's findings, conducted the blind pig in the basement of his hotel in Minot.

STORY PROVES TO BE UNTRUE

Roosevelt Has Not Endorsed Taft Administration.

NOR HAS HE CONDEMNED IT

But It Is Said That He Will Endorse It After His Return Home and He Has Finished Taking Stock of Matters Politically—Former President Is Not a Candidate for Any Office.

Washington, May 3.—Publication of a story to the effect that President Taft had received several letters from former President Roosevelt, that he approved and would publicly endorse the Taft administration, that William Loeb, Jr., was to be the Roosevelt candidate for governor of New York, and that Roosevelt would not be a candidate for president in 1912, or for governor of New York, or for senator from New York, to succeed Senator Depew, shook up the political dry bones and had the effect, at least, of bringing out some reliable information regarding Roosevelt and his relations with Taft.

First of all it may be stated that President Taft has received no letters from Colonel Roosevelt. When the two nobles parted prior to the Rooseveltian invasion of Darkest Africa it was with the distinct understanding that there would be no correspondence between them. There has been none. Second, Roosevelt has not endorsed the Taft administration, nor has he condemned it. He will endorse it after his return home and he has finished taking stock of matters political. Third, William Loeb will have Colonel Roosevelt's earnest support in anything he does back, and there is a fair probability that Loeb will seek the gubernatorial office. Roosevelt wanted Loeb made governor of the navy in the Taft administration, but would go far and do more than his former secretary.

Not a Candidate for Any Office.

Fourth, Colonel Roosevelt is not a candidate for any office. It is his "earnest wish" not to be a candidate for the presidency two years hence. He has given no thought to the governorship and little to the senatorship so far as he himself is concerned. Political developments and exigencies may make him a presidential candidate in 1912, but he is not seeking to bring that about. There will be no fight between him and President Taft unless something unexpected happens. Colonel Roosevelt expects to continue an active force in public affairs and during the summer and fall he will make a number of speeches that will tend to demonstrate his interest in national issues. Notable among his speeches will be one at the conservation congress in St. Paul. He is now endeavoring to inform himself thoroughly as to what has transpired in the United States during his absence and he does not expect to have all the information he desires until some weeks after his return. Anybody with real information about what is going on will be a welcome visitor at Oyster Bay during the summer, for the former president is said to have a positive thirst for news and to be anxious to talk with everybody who has live views.

None of this information as to the former president's attitude has come in the form of letters, but men who have seen him in Europe have been in close touch with friends here and it may be taken as authentic.

Situation in Regard to Administration's Railroad Bill.

FORCED TO ABANDON THEM

Regular Leaders Compelled to Drop Two Important Features of the Measure—Elimination of Section Seven Is a Victory for the Progressives, but Chief Credit Is Given to Senator Nelson.

Washington, May 3.—The situation in regard to the administration railway bill in the senate has reached a crisis and President Taft and the regular leaders have been obliged to abandon two important features of the measure. The sections to be dropped overboard are numbers 7 and 12, the former opening the way for traffic agreements between the roads and the latter legalizing mergers in cases where one road owns at least 50 per cent of the stock of another road.

Authorizing traffic agreements, the elimination of section 7, is a victory for the progressives, but chief credit is given Senator Nelson, who made a powerful argument against this provision, contending that if the item became a law it would break down the Sherman anti-trust act. A canvass of the senate had disclosed that the lines were tightly drawn and that section 7 could not be passed without the support of Senator Nelson. As Senator Nelson could not be won over to this proposition, it was decided to strike out sections 7 and 12.

The decision was not reached by the senate leaders until they had got President Taft on the long distance telephone at Pittsburg and informed him of the seriousness of the situation. It is understood that they told the president plainly that it was doubtful if the organization could muster the votes to carry these sections of the bill.

Later the Republican leaders called representatives of the progressive gentlemen into conference and asked if they had any proposition to offer on which the two factions might get together.

Declined to Concede Anything.

The progressives declined to concede anything, contending that they would have the votes to carry the proposed Cummins amendment to the bill. It was after this that the conservative leaders decided that sections 7 and 12 would have to be stricken from the bill.

It is likely that the elimination of these two sections will be followed by the dropping of sections 13, 14 and 15, which provided a plan for the regulation of the capitalization of railroad corporations. In regard to the three last named sections, however, the understanding is only tentative and nothing definite will be determined until the former sections have been disposed of.

The elimination of these five sections will do away with practically all of the features that have aroused the progressive opposition in the senate. Practically all that will be left of the bill will be the provision establishing an interstate commerce court, the section making it obligatory upon railroads to quote rates correctly to shippers, giving the interstate commerce commission power to initiate investigations on its own complaints and the section providing for a sixty-day suspension of rates pending an investigation by the commission into their reliability. Administration leaders contend that the features that will be left will greatly strengthen the present interstate commerce law and will, if enacted into a law, alone reflect considerable credit upon the Taft administration.

The elimination of the five sections will certainly clear the atmosphere in the senate considerably, and will increase the chances for reasonably early adjournment of congress.

ON FLATHEAD RESERVATION

Minnesota Man First to Draw a Claim.

Kalispell, Mont., May 3.—Patrick Quigley of Rosemount, Minn., was the first man to draw a claim on the Flathead Indian reservation at the opening here. His name was third, but owing to the absence of one and two, he got first choice and selected a quarter section near the government town of Big Arm, on the long bay that runs west of Wild Horse island.

The first half dozen locations were in the same vicinity, and all of those taken were in the region southwest of the lake, with the exception of one, which was in sage brush land, many miles west of the Peab Oreille river.

Would Know Later.

Patient—Now, doctor, what's the matter with me, anyway?

The Head Consulting Physician—My dear sir, do you suppose that if we knew what was the matter with you we would have decided to hold a post-mortem?

BRainerd HIGH VS. AITKIN

Brainerd Wins Out in a Warm Contest at Koering Field Saturday Afternoon

In a one-sided game of baseball Aitkin high school was defeated by the Brainerd high school on the Koering grounds last Saturday. Although quite one sided the game was interesting throughout, as each team played its best to win. Brainerd's best was however, of better quality and the game went deservingly to them.

To pick out one particular star on the Brainerd team would be a tiresome process with little success, but,
to pick out particular features would be a more enjoyable task. White was a very noticeable feature in the game, especially to the Aitkin batters. He struck out 18 men and held them down to 2 scratch hits. He also did a little hitting which helped bring the score up. Mahlum received him behind the bat with great credit and caused much delight in the hearts of the rooters by running into the crowd and catching a foul ball. Barron held down first base without a mishap and proved a valuable man in his position. Although Long had few chances on second base, he showed that he must be reckoned as a clever infielder.

Trent did not say much but made a bad noise at the bat. He got a couple of nice hits. Alderman, on third, proved to be a dangerous man on bases. Vogel, Lund and Mahood hadn't any chances in the outfield but played a prominent part in the score getting.

One of the amusing features of the game was the playing of Petrberg in left field. The ball was knocked in his direction, and as the crowd was yelling "a hit" the little fellow calmly grabbed it in and made "a hit" with the whole crowd. The Aitkin players deserve creditable mention for their gentlemanly playing and should be praised for their work as they did their best.

The lineup and summary of the game is as follows:

Aitkin Brainerd

Scott -----1b-----Barron

Alcott -----2b-----Long

Harper -----3b-----Alderman

G. Petrberg -----c-----Mahlum

Kelly -----ss-----Trent

Lenard -----rf-----Mahood

Arneson -----cf-----Vogel

H. Petrberg -----lf-----Lund

Schanrr -----p-----White

Lueks -----p-----White

Two base hits, Trent, White and Barron. Hits off White, 2; off Schanrr 3; off Lueks 2. Struck out by White, 18; by Schanrr 2; by Lueks 5. Bases on balls off White 4; off Schanrr 2; off Lueks 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbertson are old residents of the city. They were married in Brainerd 25 years ago at 414 South Bluff Ave., this being next door to their present residence. Brainerd was a small town then and both Mr. and Mrs. Gilbertson can tell interesting stories of the early life in this locality.

They were the recipients last night of many beautiful and costly presents, silver ware and other tokens of regard. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of a pleasant evening.

INTERESTING AITKIN ITEMS

Gleaned From the Live Papers of that City. Brainerd Man Loses Booze Stored There

From the Independent:

The N. P. will give Aitkin the benefit of fast freight service on account of increased business. In round numbers, 7,000 pounds of freight are received daily from Duluth.

Aitkin is again supplied with a hospital, Dr. Ratcliffe having rented a residence property and will fit it up for the accommodation of all who have need of hospital care and treatment.

Work has been commenced on the new Catholic church at Deerwood. The building will cost $3000.

Cole & McDonald have placed and are operating a drill in section 15 in the town of Hazelton for Jamieson & Peacock, of Duluth.

Miss Leonora Nuebe, of the Brainerd business college, is now acting as stenographer at the census headquarters in the Age office.

The work of ballasting the Cuyuna line of road which has been delayed longer than had been anticipated, is now under way. It is expected that it will be six weeks before Aitkin is reached, as there is much heavy work across the peat marshes where the grade has settled.

The warehouse on the residence property of Angus McMullen on Elm street, was broken into early last Monday morning and a quantity of liquor taken. The liquor was the property of Wm. Costello, of Brainerd, formerly proprietor of the Willard hotel bar, and was valued at about $45. A neighbor saw a team hitched near the place during the night, and later saw the same team with two men in the buggy crossing the bridge going north.

PILLAGER NEWS ITEMS

Gleaned from the Herald:—

Parker Waite has been awarded the contract for building the Gull River bridge for $425. Mr. Waite was also the successful bidder on the new fair building, 24x60 and fitted up in modern style for the display of products. The bid was $420, and it insures the best fair grounds and buildings in Cass county.

Pillager is to have concrete side walks and the grade of the streets has been established by County Surveyor Fenn.

Judging from the number of Socialists that attended the Debs meeting in Brainerd, Pillager is going to follow the example of Milwaukee at the next election.

ARBOR DAY EXERCISES

Conducted at the Public Library by the Children of the Story Hour on Saturday

One hundred and twenty children of the story hour were present on the library grounds Saturday afternoon to plant a tree in observance of Arbor day and in appreciation of the benefits they are receiving through the library. The children assembled in the hall down stairs and extended a hearty vote of thanks to the Kimball Music Co. for the loan of the fine piano which they saw for the first time. Miss Beare kindly presided at the piano and the children marched up stairs and gathered around the tree to the music of the Minnesota state song. Mr. Cobb addressed the children telling them among other things that we should plant trees because they are the homes of the birds and the birds are a great help to us in keeping injurious insects from vegetation, besides pleasing us with their sweet notes. He drew attention to the fact that some trees are more desirable than others, for example the oak, elm and hard maple, because they are more enduring and are less attractive to worms. Mr. Cobb brought a picture of what is thought to be the oldest tree in existence and it will be hung in the library hall.

Mrs. Burnett had the program in charge. Miss Barrett, of the Whittier school; Miss Lindberg, of the Lincoln school; Miss Lowey, of the Lowell school; Miss Hanson of the Harrison school and Miss Rounds of the Mill school, all took an interest in planning the program of the children. Miss Mulrine, Miss Brosted and others, also assisting.

The songs and recitations were much enjoyed, not only by the children themselves and the ladies of the story hour, but also by Mrs. Patek and Mrs. Rowley of the library board. Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Cobb, Mrs. Johnstone, Mrs. White, Mrs. D. M. Clark, Mrs. Follet, the librarian, and several parents of the children.

The tree was named the Cohen Elm in honor of Henry I. Cohen, for many years active in the interests of the library and president of the board.

Thanks are due to Prof. Wilson and Mr. W. A. M. Johnstone for their assistance with the trees. After listening to a number on the piano, played by Miss Beare, the children were dismissed.

The tree placed by the Ladies Musical club was named the Schubert Elm.

Cherub Devine

By
SEWELL FORD

Copyright, 1909, by Mitchell Kennerley

It was less than an hour's ride at best, but before it was half over Cherub Devine was consulting watch and time table and had again shifted his seat to the forward chair, where he could watch for the name boards on the stations.

Perceiving this unusual agitation of a mind normally free from such disturbances, you might suspect that Mr. Devine was about to make some great venture. It was a fact. His plans, however, were somewhat vague. About the only definite part of his program was his decision to turn himself out of house and home immediately upon reaching Hewington Acres. The Countess Vecchi should buy back the place at her own terms. She now had the means, and he was well assured of her desire to do so.

Small wonder, then, that Cherub Devine in a brief period of time forgot all about the revived wretchedness always more or less of an impromptu nature. In a moment he was smiling confidently, as was his custom when once he had decided upon a line of action, however unpromising might be the future. The heavier the clouds ahead the lighter the smile. Nick was a good fellow and all that, but if he chose to mope inactive in the background let him stay there. He (Cherub Devine) would show him how to play the game boldly—perhaps how to win.

And then came the thought. Would that he absolutely just to the Countess Vecchi? She and Nicholas had been spoony on each other for years, and she must have liked Nick. He was a likable fellow, clean, sturdy, substantial, one of her own class, and—oh, the Cherub winced at that—one whom she would call a gentleman. Yes, Nick would measure up to all her demands as to what a gentleman should be.

And had it been really she who had broken off the match, or was it due to the ambitious plans of her father? Then after she had come back, humbled in spirit, the Hewington fortune dissipated, had she perhaps held Nick at arm's length because of her pride? Was this the reason of his seeming inaction? Had he been all the time waiting in the hope that some day she would relent, and might she not do so, now that in some measure her fortune had been restored? Ought not she to have the chance? Was not the opportunity for a free choice due to her? Shouldn't Nick have another show too?

Floundering through some such maze of reasoning, the Cherub at last came to this brilliant conclusion, with only a faint suspicion that he was about to make an astonishing blunder of himself. He even experienced a glow of satisfaction as he hastily mapped out his new program. You would almost have thought by the cheerful manner in which he laid it before young Mr. Walloway that he thought he was attaining a long desired end.

"Well, Nick," he began, this time giving young Mr. Walloway due warning of his approach, "we're almost there. Now, the first thing on the docket is for you to fix up this business about the house with the countess."

"Why, sure! You know her better than I do. You go up and have a talk with her; tell her how you sold the stocks and what she can buy back the property for."

"But—but—why don't you?"
"Me! Oh, I've got to skip back to town on this train. Just wanted to get you started straight. You can do it so much better than I can, being one of her own kind, and all that. Aren't afraid of the countess, are you?"
"Why, no. But see here, Cherub—"

"Now, that's all right, Nick. You can do this line. But, say, you call me up on the phone at any hotel tonight and let me know how you come out, eh? Don't forget that, about 9 o'clock. Just give me a line on how she takes it and so on. You'll have some report or other to make, I'll bet. Needn't make too much of my share in the business. Just talk like I'd handed it over to you, as I have. You're equal to that job, aren't you?"

of young Mr. Walloway. A question suddenly occurring to the Cherub, he abruptly walked back to where young Mr. Walloway still sat, intently gazing at something he held shielded in his two hands. It was nothing more than the gold oval which he wore as a watch fob. Dozens of times the Cherub had seen it dangling from the breast pocket of Nick's coat without specially remarking it. Now he noted that it was really a locket, for it was open. Glancing carelessly over Nick's shoulder, he saw it contained a picture, a miniature on ivory. And the picture on which young Mr. Walloway was gazing with such rapt pathos was a likeness of the Countess Vecchi. And in an instant it was made clear to him that the woman whom Nicholas Walloway had loved and lost and still continued to love was the Countess Vecchi.

Fortunately Mr. Devine had not spoken, and the fear of the car wheels had drowned his approach. Swiftly he withdrew. Then he sat down to ponder on the situation. Quite abruptly the Cherub now came upon the realization of his own purpose. He was a little staggered by the discovery of his audacity, but this was no new sensation. His audacious flights were

With one of these stoves you can boil, bake or roast the most elaborate dinner. You can change from a slow to a quick fire, or the other way about, by simply turning a wick.
